

THE RESEARCH UNIVERSITY PRESS

International
Computational Law Journal

VOLUME 2 / ISSUE 1 / CURATED SOURCE EDITION

Generative AI Legislative Hearing

Dazza Greenwood · Dan Katz · Michael Bommarito · Damien Riehl · Jesse Han · John Nay

MIT Computational Law Report · Originally published 2023-05-15

Independent reader edition under CC BY 4.0. This attribution cover was added; original source PDF pages follow unchanged. Original authorship and source identity are retained. MIT, Stanford University, Stanford Law School and CodeX have not sponsored or endorsed this republication.

Source, license and version evidence accompany the online article.

MIT Computational Law Report

Generative AI Legislative Hearing

Dazza Greenwood Dan Katz Michael Bommarito Damien Riehl Jesse Han John Nay

Published on: May 15, 2023

URL: https://law.mit.edu/pub/wyoming-legislative-hearing

License: Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License (CC-BY 4.0)

> Use the following URL for the most up-to-date version of this page: https://law.mit.edu/pub/wyoming-legislative-hearing

On May 15th, 2023, the Wyoming Select Committee on Blockchain, Financial Technology, and Digital Innovation Technology held a hearing on the legislative implications of Generative AI.

Visit the web version of this article to view interactive content.

Select Committee on Blockchain, Financial Tech. & Digital Innovation Tech., May 15, 2023-PM

The law.MIT.edu research team was honored to assist the Select Committee in assembling a group of thought leaders and innovators in the field of law and Generative AI to testify. This group provided an overview of the topic and demonstrated how an LLM-powered Wyoming LLC could operate.

This series of presentations at this hearing was coordinated by law.MIT.edu's Executive Director Dazza Greenwood, and the witnesses testifying were:

- Dazza Greenwood
- Dan Katz & Michael Bommarito
- Damien Riehl
- Jesse Han, and
- John Nay

Megan Ma, the Managing Editor of the MIT Computational Law Report, also contributed to the LLM LLC demonstration but was unable to testify on this day.

For more information about the upcoming LLM LLC demonstration and an open challenge to further iterate and test this approach to algorithmic management of a legal entity, please visit: https://law.mit.edu/pub/legal-entity-challenge

In the coming days, we will update this post with additional information about the topics covered at the hearing and links to relevant resources.